

The “Star Formation Engine” uses the estimated number of wins/losses over the last three seasons to size up the squad and also make intelligent players to player substitutions based on in-game performance. Re-designed player models capture more characteristics of their real-life counterparts. Players have over 20 animation options at their disposal. They are more fluid and agile, pulling off more skill moves. New mechanics such as Tactic App New Shape-ups and Formation systems The “Tactic App” lets players re-shape the playing style of a team using a series of tactics to influence and control the game in whatever way they choose. Players can also use Key-In play where they can control game play using specific key combinations. The new Formation system lets players run the show and dictate the pace of the game as well as communicate a tactic to the team as the game unfolds. The formation is broken down into three categories - Standard, Midfield and Attacking Midfield. Each of these categories has multiple formations and the formation can be selected at any point in the game using the right stick. The formation is also then reflected in the team's shape-ups, pitch passes and pass options. The new Tactic App also lets players use formations to call for transitions. Players can now determine the speed, use of the goalkeeper and whether they want to control the tempo of the game or let the game flow naturally. New Playmaker Challenges and Play Events Playmaker Challenges are new ways of challenging the ultimate playmaker on the pitch. When the playmaker picks the ball up in a certain place (e.g. penalty area) at a certain time (e.g. a dead ball situation), a challenge comes into effect. If a specific challenge is met, the player is awarded a medal. The playmaker’s options for when and where to receive the ball determine whether the challenge will come into effect. This also affects the type and type of challenge. “Classic Playmaker Challenges” include a variety of challenges such as: Tries to pass, Hires defending, Stops dribbling, Pick it up close to goal, Good balls etc. “Offer a specific challenge” challenges include specific actions like e.g. “Pass to a certain player,” “Pass across to a specific team-mate,”
