Aspergillus fumigatus is one of the most important fungal pathogens causing life-threatening invasive diseases in immunocompromised hosts. A. fumigatus is a saprophytic filamentous fungus that can grow by gliding motility along a substrate. The extension of hyphae and conidial germination requires extensive degradation of the external substrate. We previously identified a secreted, hyphal wall-associated molecule that is required for gliding motility and conidial germination in A. fumigatus. This hyphal wall
